We, Hakan Basaran, Adrian Boss, Johannes Güttler, Anna Hartmann and Antonio Vanavore confirm that we contributed equal amounts of work towards the completion of the project on all levels.

Murad Gasimov showed little to no effort in the beginning to contribute something to the project. In the final two weeks before the deadline he reached out to us asking for something to do. We gave him the task of working on Junit tests for some of our classes. But since he was not familiar with the content of the lecture, we had to give him another task which was to complete the UML class diagrams for our project. At this point this was basically the last open task that was not programming.
